SCP Health Appoints New COO

SCP Health announces the hire of new Chief Operating Officer, Robert Reilly.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA

March 10, 2020 - Atlanta, GA - SCP Health (SCP) announces the hire of new Chief Operating Officer, Robert Reilly.

An accomplished operating executive, Reilly brings more than 27 years of expertise in operations, sales and marketing, strategy, and finance to his role. As the former Vice President, Services at GE Healthcare, he led a $2.6 billion business responsible for over one-third of GE Healthcare's global operating profit.

Over the course of his career with GE, Reilly worked in multiple businesses across North America, Europe, and Asia. For the last 17 years, he held a diverse set of leadership responsibilities at GE Healthcare, helping navigate the business through the rapidly transforming healthcare industry. He led the charge transitioning from a transactional product to solutions focused, leading commercial strategy, driving operational performance and client satisfaction, and helping shape health policy.

"Rob has the proven ability to build, develop, and execute business strategy and lead large organizations at scale," stated Rich D'Amato, SCP Health CEO. "His decades of experience in the industry bring a unique perspective to our company."

Reilly is based out of the Atlanta SCP Health office.
